The Chairman
Academic Council, NERL, Shillong

Sub: AC Resolution on Item 5.3.7 (i) made in the 29th meeting of the Academic Council on 19.11.98

With due respect I would state that I disagree with the resolution on the item noted above.

In the Ordinance OC-4 (11) it is clearly mentioned that for admission to the Ph.D. Programme a candidate shall have at least 55% marks in his / her Master's Degree in the subject concerned / allied subject / cognate subject.
Further in OC-4 (10) (v) a mention of persons having Master's Degree in the relevant and allied subject has been made for admission to the Ph.D.
Programme.

Now, if there is no list of allied / relevant / cognate subjects for each Department and each department has a fully free will to consider the fitness of any candidate with whatever background and training he / she might be, then it will be to my mind a violation of the spirit (and perhaps of the letter) of the Ordinance.

The makers of the Ordinance must be having something at the back of their minds while using the words like "allied", "cognate", and "relevant". If these words mean "whatever a department thinks at any time" relevant, allied or cognate, it is a too far stretched interpretation of these words and perhaps, to my mind, not in conformity with the spirit in which these words have been used in the Ordinance.

I do respect the wisdom of every department in such matters but nevertheless I feel its implications. If stretched far, may mean the words like allied / cognate / relevant are synonymous with "whatever". I fear unbridled freedom. Human beings are fallible. So they need rules, commandments, etc.

ANNEXURE 'C'

From:
Prof. SK Mishra
Member, Academic Council
NEHU, Shillong.

Date: 20.11.98.

To

The Chairman
Academic Council, NEHU, Shillong.

Sub: AC Resolution on Item 5:8:7: (1) made in the 59th meeting of the Academic Council on 19.11.98.

Sir,

With due respect I would state that I disagree with the resolution on the item noted above.

In the Ordinance OC-4.1(1) it is clearly mentioned that for admission to the Ph.D. Programmes a candidate shall have at least 55% marks in his / her Master's Degree in the subject concerned / allied subject / cognate subject. Further, in OC-4.1(3) (v) a mention of persons having Master's Degree in the relevant and allied subject has been made for admission to the Ph.D. Programme.

Now, if there is no list of allied / relevant / cognate subjects for each Department and each department has a fully free will to consider the fitness of any candidate with whatever background and training he / she might be, then it will be, to my mind, a violation of the spirit (and perhaps of the letters) of the Ordinance.

The makers of the Ordinance must be having something at the back of their minds while using the words like "allied", "cognate", and "relevant". If these words mean "whatever a department thinks at any time 'relevant, allied or cognate'", it is too far-stretched interpretation of these words and perhaps, to my mind, not in conformity with the spirit in which these words have been used in the Ordinance.

I do respect the wisdom of every department in such matters, but, nevertheless, I feel its implications, if stretched far, may mean the words like allied / cognate / relevant are synonymous with "whatsoever". I fear unbridled freedom. Human beings are fallible. So they need rules, commandments, etc.

That is the reason why I have chosen to request you to kindly record my note of dissent to the resolution adopted unanimously (except me) by the Academic Council. This, of course, I have chosen to do with a heavy heart, though with due respect to the system of democratic decision - making and the wisdom of the Council.

But, then, by implication, I would not be wrong if I pray that OC-4.1(1) and OC-4.1(3) (v) should be amended such that the words like "subject concerned", "allied", "cognate" and "relevant" do not appear there lest they attract someone like me to seek their meanings anywhere except in the topical free will of any department to admit any person with whatsoever background for doing Ph.D. Research work on any research topic whatsoever. Of course, the limit of 55% may be retained on the marks obtained in the Master's Degree, though many questions can be raised on this also because in matters of doing research how can one strictly distinguish a candidate (ability wise) who has 54% marks from another candidate who has 55% marks ? But I would not raise this question.

Thanking you,

Yours faithfully,

sd/-
