Sir,

Presently, I am on study leave from NEHU with effect from 15.9.01 and working at the University of Wuppertal, Germany.

As the work proposed to be done here, I am carrying out spin-orbit configuration interaction (SO-CI) calculations for the heavy-atom diatomic molecule TeO using relativistic effective core potentials (RECP) to describe the inner shells of the Tellurium atom.
Also, I am employing sophisticated computational techniques and software to understand the collision dynamics of proton with hydrocarbons which are of great importance in astrophysics and fusion research. The preliminary investigations so far lead to encouraging inferences and I am confident to arrive at some very useful and important conclusions at the end of these studies which require at least six more months to be completed.

Considering the importance of the work and the usefulness of the training I am undergoing, I humbly request you to extend my study leave for six more months with effect from 15.3.02 for which I shall remain grateful.

With best regards,

Yours faithfully,
