EC:55:87:01B(iv): The Council considered the Report of the Committee constituted vide Resolution No. EC:53:86:05:6(ii), and RESOLVED to approve the recommendations as indicated below :

1. To establish a School of Spiritual and Moral Values initially with a Department of Christian Studies and a Departmental of Traditional Religions which is considered relevant and timely. However, the implementation may proceed cautiously.

2. The School should aim at academic studies.

3. In the School, the teachers and other members should be persons of good character with spiritual and moral standing.

4. The University may frame courses and syllabi through an Expert Committee. In so doing, reference may be made to the Mysore University and the Benaras Hindu University where such religious studies have been introduced.

5. The courses may be started initially at the M.Phil level. However, with a view to produce man-power for degree level teaching, the courses at Post-Graduate (M.A.) level may also be started.

It further decided as under :-

The School shall be dedicated to a thorough academic study of Spiritualism and Moral Values.

Spiritualism :- By Spiritualism we imply a belief in the transce - dental reality which underlies the structure as well as the time-course of all observable phenomena and which is the origin and repository of all that exists. It gives us a view of Man and Life and Nature. Larger than seeing them as mere pieces of physical matter. It helps us to discover the non-matter as powerful prime-movers in the family of Man. These are love, compassion, sacrifice, brotherhood, tolerance and awareness of beauty. The awareness of this spiritual dimension is the common underpinning of all religions and brings us all together, in the grand confluence and religio (binding together again). The statements of formal aspects of the rituals in religion which distinguish and stabilise groups are properly the subjects of worthy religious institutions which alone are competent for that task and will not be touched upon in the School. The comparative aspects whenever touched upon will not be delivered along with any personal value judgements. That is, it will not be stated that a given religious view is more right or wrong, better or worse than others but all subject will be treated with reverance, as statements of different aspects of transcedental reality which all together make up Man's weltanschauung. The meaning of spiritualism is expressed in relatively modern times by a spiritually oriented writters like Paul (Valery (1,2) as well as a humanists like V Bertrand Russell (3).

Moral Values : The above leads directly not only to a vision of beauty and transcedence of the world evoked by music, dance, poetry and art, in short to esthetic experience, but also leads us to respect for life, for love, for nature, It leads us to right belief, right intention and right conduct, that is ethics. It dissects out for us to what we ought to do, from what we do. In the world of force and destruction and hatred this acquisition is the guiding star and is the common base in Man's nature, upon which our being must come to roost again and again. The School will do well to define these, in all possible ways, by theory, by testimony and by experiment, if possible. Nothing shall be done by the School against the ideal of secularism and national integration as enshrined in the Indian nationhood and the constitution of India. The 'School' as the name implies will give shelter to all views. Beginning will be made by (a) Christian Studies, (b) Study of Traditional religious of India.

"Il en est de notre esprit comme de notre chair; ce qu'ils se sentent de plus important. ils l' enveloppent de mystère, ils se le cechent eux-memes; ils le designent et le defendent par cette profondeur ou ils le placent. Tout ce qui compte est bien voile; less temoins et lea documents l' obscurcissent; les actes et les oeuvres sont faits expressement pour le travestir".

(" It is the same with our spirit as with our flesh; both hide in mystery what they feel to be most important. They conceal it from themselves. They single it out and protect it by this profundity in which they enscone it. Everything that really counts is well veiled; testimony and documents only render it the more obscure; deeds and works are designed expressly to misrepresent it.")

"Ce quo je vois m'aveugle. Ce quo j'entends m'assourdit. Ce en quoi je sais, cels me rend ignorant. J'ignore en tant et pour sutant quo je sais. Cette illumination devant moi est u un bandeau et recouvre ou une nuit ow une lumière plus ... Plus quoi? Ici le carcle se ferme, de cet etrange renversement; la connaissance. comme une nauge sur l'etre; le mond brillamt, nomme une taie et opacite.

"Otez toute chose que j'y voie"

(There are people who feel that their organs of sense are cutting them off from reality and existence. This feeling then infects all their sense perceptions. What I see blinds me. What I hear makes me deaf. What I know makes me unknowing. In so far and in as such as I know, I am ignorant. This light before me is no more than a kind of blindfold and conceals either a darkness or a light that is more ... More what? Here the circle closes with a strange reversal: knowledge, a cloud obscuring the essence of being; the shinning moon, (by) darkness or a cataract in the eye!).

Take it all away, so that I may see!

..... When their (Men's) good and their evil have become eternal by the immortality of the past, be it ours to feel that, where they suffered, where they failed, no deed of ours was the cause, but wherever a spark of the devine fire kindled in their hearts, we were ready with encouragement, with sympathy, with brave words in ...

Brief and powerless is Man's life; on him and all his race the slow, sure doom falls pitiless and dark. Blind to good and evil, reckless of destruction, omnipotent matter rolls on its relentless way; for Man, condemned today to lose his dearest, tomorrow himself to pass through the gate of darkness, it remains only to cherish, are yet to blow falls, the lefty thoughts that ennoble his little day; disdaining the coward terrors of the slave of fate, to worship at the shrine that his own hands have built; undismayed by the empire of chance, to preserve a mind free from the wanton tyranny that rules his outward life; proudly defiant of the irresistible forces that tolerate, for a moment , his knowledge and his condemnation, to sustain alone, a weary but unyielding Atlas.....
